A FEW WORDS FROM MADAME SEMBRICH.

Madame Sembrich and her husband occupied a box in the first tier at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon. She attracted the attention of many people in the house and seemed to enjoy the performance of Mr. Mapleson's company. "Vicini," said she to a Tribune reporter, "is excellent. He is young, of course, and lacks experience, but I think time will make a great artist of him. Is not Gerster charming ? She is a good artist-a very good artist."

"How do you like the new Opera House?" "I like it to sing in. It suits me and my voice, but it is so big! Too big, I cannot help think-ing." Were you pleased with your reception last Wednesday night l?"

"Of course. But there were so few people there. I have ung never before such an empty house in my life. I suppose, though, that the same number of people it takes to fill only half that house would make an ordinary opern house uncomfortably crowded. Rut they were very kind to me and I appreciated their kindness. Naturally, I am not known yet, or rather I was not known until last Wednesday, but in time I hope I shall be a favorite with your public. Did you hear Trebelli last night? She is an artist, is sho not? An artist whom it is hard to find a match for."

A VICTORY FOR SIGNOR DEL PUENTE.

Judge O'Gorman, in the Special Term of the Superior Court, yesterday rendered his decision in the injunction proceedings of James A. Mapleson against Gutseppe del Puente denying the motion, with $10 costs, thus leaving the baritone to sing for Mr. Abbey on the payment of 15,000 francs forfeit. In giving his decision, Judge O'Gorman said : "This court has no power to compel the defendant to sing, or if it has such a power it has never yet, so far as I am aware, been claimed by the court or put in force. As far, then, as the plaintiff's prayer for put in force. As far, then, as the plaintiff's prayer for specific performance is concerned he is not cuttiled to the judgment claimed in his complaint." Regarding the injury done Mr. Mapleson, the Court says: "There is no evidence that the plaintiff is exposed to irreparable injury by reason of the defendant's faiture to sing for him. His reported interview with a newspaper agent is significant on that subject. The defendant, by his letter of June 23, 1883, gave the plaintiff ample time to secure himself against irreparable injury. It is open to argument whether the clause in the contract binding the defendant to pay to the plaintiff 15,000 frances for damages and expenses, in case of the defendants failure to perform the contract, does not fix and limit the famount of liquidated damages to which the plaintiff would be entitled."

THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

A SEASON OF GAY DIVERSIONS. OPERA FIRST NIGHTS-THE HORSE SHOW-HYMEN'S

RECORD-COMING WEDDINGS.

In the annals of social life in this city the last week should be written upon a fair page, for it has furnished-what is rare-two novel features, namely, the opening a new opera house, and the exhibition of horses at the Madison Square Garden. Coming in the same week they made a busy time, and, as one of the gentlemen riders observed, "compelled one to be a Centaur by day and an Apollo by night." People in society who did not extract a great deal of pleasure out of the week must be too weary of gayety to encourage any one to try to cater to their tastes. As for the weather, it has been, in the main, pleasant and autumnal, which latter word means cariable, but altogether charming. The opera dwarfs all other subjects for gossip at present, and people are still commenting on how magnificent was the opening night at the new house, as well as how bravely the loyal adherents of the old one rallied to hear Madame Gerster. It is reason for ongratulation that both managements had full houses to repay them for the long and arduous months of preparation. The new house made a notable showing of beauty, conspicuous among the navried women being Mrs. Frederick Neilson, Lady Mandeville, Mrs. James B. Potter, and the recent bride, Mrs. Eniclen Roosevelt. The ladies were generally de-lighted with the cosy ante-rooms to the boxes, though not so much pleased with the stiff, perpendicular arrangement of the latter, while many of the gentlemen took apparent pleasure in pacing the corridor, even while the acts were in progress. The are several details of the house not yet finished; among them them the fover, where Mazetti will be in charge, and people who do not have a box may rettre for an tee between the acts.

At the Academy Mme, Gerster delighted an audience that was scarcely less brilliant than that at the new house it being much like the gatherings of last season. There were a few, though, whose curiosity proved too strong for them to remain at one house all the time, and so they heard Geister and Nisson both. It may be that ooth houses can live; yet one cannot help speculating on what a splendid company could be formed by adding Patti, Gerster and Galassi to Nilsson, Sembrich, Scalchi, Trebelli, Staguo, Campanini and Kaschmann. There could be no off nights then?

Scalan. Tree-lif. Stague. Campanini and Kaschmann. There could be no off nights then?

The horse show was at least a social success, for every one felt bound to go, and indeed on the first afternoon there was almost as good a display of horses attached to the carringes outside the building as inside. The exhibition proved, to judge from what one heard, that the young ladies could "talk horse" as well as their brothers. Whether or not that is a desirable accomplishment for young hadies might be referred to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe. The itomy of fate which sometimes disgraces the most worthy was exemplified in the horse of Mr. Work in the hurdle jumping. Though Mr. Work is a most accomplished horseman, his horse did not seem to have any jump in him, and, after repeated failures, George led him away, arobably to feed him on hopsinstead of oats in the future. Two little children dressed in riding suits of the First Empire, with quaint, brigand-looking hats, were observed by many as among the most noticeable of the visitors to the show. Among the steady attendants were most of the members of the Coaching Club and the Misses Ocirichs, Cheever and Heckscher.

To glance at the other incidents of the week it may be noticed that the weddings are increasing in numbers, the Stent-Cook, Hegeman-Matthews and Powell-Randal affairs opening the week on Tuesday. The wedding of Mr. Randall and Miss Van Nest on Wednosday was quiet. On the same day, at Wilmington, Del., Francis Sedawick Bangs, the well-known young lawyer of this city, married Miss McComb, daughter of H. S. McComb, An unpretentious wedding took place Wednesday, at 1 p. m., in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, Miss Emily Fletcher, daugh ter of F. H. Eletcher, being married to Asa L. Roscas, by ter of E. H. Fletcher, being married to Asa L. Rogers, by the Rev. Dr. Armitage. Messrs Lewis, Walker, Andrews, and Crandall were the ushers. Miss Charlotte Nicoll was married that day, also, to J. McKim Minton at Bayside, it being a quiet wedding on account of recent deaths of relatives. There was a pleasant little dinner party, Wed-nesday evening, at Castle Point, Hoboken, at the house of Mrs. Edwin Stevens.

relatives. Here was the Point, Hoboken, at the house of Mrs. Edwin Stevens.

The farewell reception to Lord Coleridge at the Union League Club, Thursday evening, was a gathering of no small interest, there being something touching in the kindly words of parting speken by the guest and Mr. Evarts, enlivened though they were by thrusts of wit and flashes of humor. Lord Coleridge's mention of John Bright and of the record of the Union League and the righteousness of its accomplished mission were heartily applauded. And so returns to England a guest who has made us richer and whose going will be respected. Shall it be told how late in the night the younger members of the club made the orchestra march in single file down all the stairways from the supper room to the billiard room, there to play minstrel music while many danced and sang, till the hours and the musicians were he same—three—in number ! e same-three-in number !

danced and sang, till the hours and the mostchas were he same—three—in number?

Newport awakened to the extent of a wedding on Thursday, when Miss Helen H. Sanford, daughter of the late Colonel Samuel Sanford, and Arthur C. Taylor, of London, were married in St. Stephen's Church. A number of small gatherings have enlivened the week. Mr. Irving was given a breakfast by Chief Justice and Mrs. Shea on Wednesday, and Sir William MacCormack was entertained by Dr. J. Marion Sims, and also at a dinner party at the Gramery apartments. Morris K. Jesup entertained the Bible Revision Committee, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Vanderbilt, at Oakdale, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Francklyn, Lord and Lady Mandeville, Frederic O. Beach, John Halfour, of Scotland; B. C. Porter, of Boston, and Miss M. Whiting, On Friday evening Mrs. Charles Graef, of Anity-st., Brooklyn, gave a small dancing party.

Miss M. Whiting. On Friday evening Mrs. Charles Grack of Annity st., Brooklyn, gave a small dancing party.

The future is so full of diversions, weddings, etc., that there is hardly room for their recounting. Mr. Irving and Matthew Arnold are looked for to furnish rare intellectual entertainment. The Bartholdi Statue Pedestal Fund is to be the beneficiary of some more amateur productions, and the large array of musical talent now in the city will be utilized at some private musical evenings for charity, of which more amon. Invitations are aircady out for the assemblies at Delmonteo's.

This week will bring some notable weddings, those of Miss Scamanif and Mr. Hobbs and Miss Morgan and Mr. Schenck being on Tuesday. In the array of brides for Wednesday are Miss Talmage, Miss White, Miss Fisher, Miss de Lima, Miss Costello and Susan Anna Custis Parremore, of Virginia, and a great-grand-daughter of Martha Custis Washington, Miss Patremore will be married to Charles Frank James, assistant Corporation Counsel and son of the ex-Postmaster-General, in Calvary Church. On Thursday will come the Gwynn-Lawrence wedding, The wedding of Miss Sadie Jewett, duughter of Hugh J. and Frederick Clark and Miss Georgic Ashe and Nathandel W. Howell.

To refer to less pleasant topics, it is now said that the engagement of Mr. Herbert and Miss Williams, of Baltimore, was broken because of a difference of religion, the former being a Roman Catholic and the latter belonging to the Frotestant Episcopal Church, Mrs. John Russell Young's death will be widely deplored. She will be remembered by her maiden name—Miss Julia Coleman—to many.

The servia brought a number of people home, including Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lydig, the Baron and Baroness de Thomsen and Mr. and Mrs. J. Brander Matthews.

COMPLAINING OF ILL TREATMENT.

Justice Barrett, in the Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, granted a mandamus upon the applica tion of Samuel Greenbaum, as counsel for Thomas Gra-ham, to compel the Inspectors of Election of the Second Election District of the XXth Assembly District to register Mr. Graham's name upon their books or to show ause on Monday for their failure to do so. Mr. Graham dleged that on October 9 he was a resident of the Sixth Election District of the XXth Assembly District, living at No. 301 East Forty second st. He registered in that district, but afterward moved to No. 155 East Forty fifth st., which is in the Second Election District of the same Assembly District. On October 26 he applied for registration before the inspectors of the Sixth Election District, showing his certificate of removal, but they refused, he alleges to recognize him.

MR. TALMAGE'S TICKET WINS.

About 150 members of Mr. Talmage's church gathered in the Tabernacle last evening for the election of five trustees, three for the full term of three years and two for unexpired terms. Despite the announcement made last Sunday that only one ticket would appear, the other having been "swallowed for the sake of Christianity," two tickets appeared. The opposition, which had agreed to burn their tickets, seemed to have reconsidered their decision. They called the ticket supported by Mr. Talmage "The Stranger's Ticket," but the strangers mage "The Stranger's Ticket," but the strangers ded themselves "Regulars." They were as follows: Ir. Harrison A. Tucket, James A. Templeton and Charles N. Stafford, for the full term; and William H. Natis and Andrew Evans for two years, in place of Nelson Hamblin, ir., and Alexander McLean, resigned. The opposition ticket was as follows: Harrison A. Tucker, George D. Allen, William B. Mead, William D. Barnes and Alexander McLean. The total vote amounced was 137, of which Dr. Tucker received 134, and the others on the "Recular" ticket, 124, 125, 124 and 127. The opposition candidates received eleven votes each.

PEACE IN THE CABINET.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS ADVISERS IN ACCORD-NO BLOOD SHED.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Washington, Oct. 27 .- The recent "disagreement" in the Cabinet continues to be a topic of discussion in Washington, and some persons have gone so far as to deny the orrectness of the account of the difficulty which was published in The Tribune. It can be said, however, that neither the President nor any member of his Cabinet has denied the accuracy of The Tribune account in any particular.

It is probably true, however, as asserted, that Secretary Chandler thinks it desirable to decline the position of *champion slugger" of the administration, which he ears this widely circulated bit of fiction is likely to confer upon him, and he is reported as giving the following statement of the trouble: "The matter referred to happened while certain officials were acting as secretaries. It was true that the President had signed an order, which he had an unquestioned right to do, by which certain existing orders issued by the head of one department were abrogated at the request of the head of another department.

gated at the request of the head of another department. The proceeding, to be sure, was an unusual one, but explanations subsequently made were regarded as satisfactory, and, whether satisfactory or not, there were reasons of state, the best that could be given, why publicity should not be given to the matter, and that ended all the room there was for controversy."

Persons familiar with Mr. Chandler's clearness and perspluitly, as well as his terseness of expression, will readily recognize the paternity and feel the force of the foregoing explanation. It is pleasant to be able to state, on the very best authority, that whatever were the dissensions they have been completely healed, and the most perfect harmony now reigns in the Cabinet. The Corean controversy and all other causes of difference having been amicably adjusted, there seems to be no reason to expect another "fight in the Cabinet," unless Mr. Chandler, conscious of the growing power and irresistible strength of the American Navy, should conclude to annex Cuba to the United States some fine day, without the knowledge or consent of Mr. Freilinghuysen.

The high iron gates between the State and Navy Departments are to be kept there, however, as a guarantee against future "unwarranted interferences" by the head of either with affairs of the other Department.

THE CABINET-MAKERS AT WORK, If the President and the members of the Cabinet read he newspapers to morrow they will probably learn something. The Cabinet-makers, it is understood, are again to the fore. After the November elections Secretary Folger and Attorney-General Brewster, they say, are to resign. Judge Gresham is to take the Treasury portfolio; a New-York man-name withheld for the present-is to succeed Judge Gresham as Postmaster-General, and a Massachusetts man—name also withheld for the present—ls to become Attorney-General. These things are to be done to promote President Arthur's candidacy for the Presidential nomination next year.

A THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Washington, Oct. 27.-The President has sued a Thanksgiving proclamation as follows: "In furtherance of the custom of the people at the closing of each year to engage, upon a day set apart for that pur-pose, in a special festival of praise to the Giver of All ood, I. Chester A. Arthur, President of the United States, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as a day of National Thank-giving. The year which is drawing to an end has been replete with evidences of Divine goodness. The prevalence of health, the fulness of the harvests, the stability of peace and order, the growth of fraternal feeling, the spread of intelligence and earning, the continued enjoyment of civil and religious iberty—all these and countless other blessings are cause for reverent rejoicing. I do, therefore, recommend that on the day above appointed the people rest from their accustomed labors, and, meeting in their several places of worship, express their devout gratitude to God that He hath dealt so bountifully with this Nation, and pray that His grace and favor abide with it forever."

FINES ON AMERICAN VESSELS.

Washington, Oct. 27.-Mr. Foster, United States Minister to Spain, has forwarded to the Department of State copies of his correspondence with officers of the Spanish Government, in regard to the fines imposed on American mall steamers in Cuba. The correspondence indicates that His Majesty has about concluded to remit the fines imposed, and also says that he is disposed to concede the free introduction of fresh fish under the American flag, provided the United States Government will make an equivalent concession Government will make an equivalent concession. The correspondence is necompanied by a translation of a royal order amendatory of the customs regulations. Mr. Foster expressed a hope that it might inits application be found to afford relief from the fines already imposed, but said: "It would seem that the amendments ordered do not contemplate any relaxation of the problems herefolorie existing as to the imposition of fines, but on the contrary, enlarge the scope of their application."

AN OPINION AFFECTING THE TARIFF. Washington, Oct. 27 .- Secretary Folger to day received from Attorney-General Brewster an opinior in regard to the effect of the clause in the new tariff law which provides that "there shall be no allow ance for breakage, leakage or damage on wines, liquors, cordials or distilled spirits," The Attorney-General holds that "this proviso repeals only the arbitrary allowances in lieu of leakage and breakage which before existed, and does not require the assessment of daty upon a greater quantity than is actu-ally imported, as shown by the return of the proper offi-cer." Customs officers will be directed to conform their action to this opinion. A WARNING OF A HURRICANE.

Washington, Oct. 27.-The Signal Corps furnishes the following: "The harricane reported terday afternoon and this morning is moving westward, south of eastern Cuba. Its course cannot at present be determined, but it will probably recurve west of Cuba and move northeasterly. Vessels along the South Atlantic and Guil coasts, and vessels proceeding to Guil ports, are warned."

MORE ATTORNEYS SUSPENDED. Washington, Oct. 27 .- Upon the report of the Commissioner of Pensions, the Secretary of the Interior to-day suspended from practice before the Interior Department Belva A. Lockwood and E. H. Gelston & Co. pension attorneys of this city. Mrs. Lockwood is accused of receiving illegal fees and withholding pension money, and Gelston & Co. of filing fraudulent pension claims.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

Heyman J. Flatow made an assignment yesrday to Samuel J. Betman. He has been in the dry goods business in this city since April, 1873, when he ened a retail store. About three years ago he began to a jubbing business, making a specialty of selling to ped s. His Habilities do not exceed $10,000. Herman Heim, dealer in tags, labels and funcy cards, at

No. 309 Broadway, has made an assignment to James T McMahon. He has been in this line of business about six years, and he owes only a few thousand dollars. PROVIDENCE, Oct. 27.—The creditors of the St. Croix Cotton Mill Company met to-day, $400,000 of the indebtedness being represented. The treasurer's statement showed the quick assets to be $98,639, the Habilities $597,063, and the net indebtedness $493,324. A resolu tion passed that it was the feeling of this meeting that the St. Crotx Mills should continue running until another meeting of the creditors could be held, and requesting the committee to buy such materials as were absolutely neces-sary for that object.

EXCITEMENT IN THE CHICAGO MARKETS RAPID ADVANCE IN WHEAT-CORN AND PROVISIONS ACT IN SYMPATHY.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] CHICAGO, Oct. 27 .- What made December wheat jump from 93% to 95% this afternoon? Every-body is asking to-night. A haif dozen different answers are given. Likely as not a half dozen different causes were at work. The purchases for the account of Mathews, the Cincinnati boy phenomenon, made wheat strong last night on the cuil, and advanced it on the curb righer this morning, and a little advance took place. The December option got up to 94 cents, and at this point there seemed to be lots of wheat for sale. At noon the figures were a little higher still, but there existed no spocial excitement. Moderate people last night looked for some advance, because there appeared to be a general in-

At about 12:30 within a half hour of the close, two big George C. Walker & Co., and Poole Kent & Co.,sent traders into the pit and began to buy wheat, especially the January option, furiously. The figures advanced in a twinkling. December went from 04 to 9442 and yet bids were made for 100,000 bushels lots. It advanced to 95, but the buying continued. At 1 o'clock, when the regular trading hour closed, the quotation for December was 051g; within the next ten minutes it sold up to 95%, and | Europe the latest and important improvements.

at night on the curb 95% was the figure. Mathews did not get his line covered, say some, and lost his head. His shortage was too big for a man of his means. He probably dropped a quarter of his pile. But this was not the popular explanation. Mathews, it is thought, was likely enough to cover his 800,000 bushel shortage. It was "some other fellow," the crowd believes, who was squeezed. Another story says that the purchases of Poole, Kent & Co. and Walker & Co. were for the Kents; that "Sid" and A. E. Kent have covered the 500,000 bushels of "short" wheat which is figured they hadout, and have gone "long." Still another theory credits the war news with the sensational rally of the wheat market this afternoon.

An explanation which involves all these theories in a very modified form would probably be more nearly cor-rect than any one alone. A good many rich men have certainly bought wheat. They have made their pur-chases, and do not care particularly whether wheat goes down a little, but do firmly believe that in course of time, and before their contracts mature, wheat will advance a good deal. The Kents are very likely long; but no sane commission man believes the story which was flying about to-night, that the Kents had bought 50,000,000 bushels of wheat within the last week. and were " long" now for half this amount. There have been some very large lines of "short" wheat. Single operators have sold and rested upon 2,000,000 bushels This was a day of panie for these "shorts." Very little purchases of long wheat would have started the thing, for wheat was alarmingly oversold. It happened that Poole, Kent & Co. and Walker had large buying orders to fill. This settled the thing. There was a rush to cover by a mob of panie-stricken "shorts." The advance was so sharp—over 2 cents—that lots of short wheat had to be covered without orders. Margins were exhausted; it was dangerous to wait. Between "stop orders" and purchases by commission men to save themselves from loss, and purchases by "bulls," and the wild buying of the "shorts," there was from noon until the close a most excited state of affairs about the wheat pit.

The advance has been too rapid to last. There may be no decline on Monday, although there is likely to be. This advance was solely because of artificial influences. There is nothing in the supply and demand situation to cause so hasty a movement. There were no wheat charters to-night. The shipments today were less than the receipts; but to-day's very sensational fluctuations are pretty certain to strengthen per manently the feeling of wheat. There are a good many who feel that last Saturday's prices are the lowest on the manently the feeling of wheat. There are a good many who feel that last Saturday's prices are the lowest on the crop. Very few, however, believe that to-night's figure will be maintained longer than a day or so. Friday night the signs pointed toward an advance to-day; to-night they point toward a decline Monday. November wheat closed at 93, December at 95.%.

Corn advanced nearly a cent a bushel, principally because of the "bullishness" about the wheat pit. The demand from shippers, however, was better than it has been for some days. The advance in corn was, like that in wheat, all secured within a very few minutes. An incident of the excitement was the purchase of 250,000 bushels by John B. Lyon, and its sale by him at the very next moment to M. B. Ream at 47.3. It illustrated the excited condition of the market, and the panicky state of mind of the "shorts." Ream is believed to have covered, besides a big line of "short" wheat, a good deal of "short" corn too. October corn closed at 46.3, November at 47.8, May at 48.3, Although the temper in the corn crowd was excited, there was not nearly the trading done in its pit that was transacted in wheat.

Provisions were affected, just as corn was, by the excitement in the wheat pit. Pork advanced 10 cents per hundred. The advance was made, too, in the face of a decline of live hogs at the yards of 10.2 13 cents. There was nothing interesting in the situation. October pork closed at $10.30; November at $5.52.3; January at $5.57.2; October lard at $7.20; November at $7.22.9. Oats were <sup>1</sup>2 cent higher.

Is as palatable as the nicest fruit and more crtain in its action than the nauseous catharties which aske martyrs of ladies and children. Everybody likes it-old everywhere at 25 and 50 cents per lox.
